CLOUD INFRASTRUCTURE

Optimize your cloud infrastructure strategy

Run your workloads securely in the cloud, with the right platform at the right price.

A complete infrastructure strategy is complex. Navigating the range of cloud platforms and finding the right fit takes time.

Then come implementation, maintenance, management and security, which can easily become a full-time job for an IT team.

01 Find faster, buy better, spend smarter

The leading platforms

We work with the major cloud providers, including Microsoft Azure, Amazon Web Services and Google Cloud, plus private-cloud and traditional infrastructure providers.

Spend optimization

See spend and usage across your infrastructure to guide decisions and uncover savings, such as idle resources and oversized servers.

02 What we source

- Public cloud
- Private cloud
- Hybrid cloud
- Colocation
- Data center
- Disaster recovery
- Backup
- Cloud security

03 Extend your team

Evaluate your options with our help

Our engineers assess your business, from industry to size to unique needs, and compare the options side by side.

Support for implementation and management

Professional and managed services from our SupportMax team help you migrate workloads to the cloud and keep them running.

Questions to ask yourself

1. What does your business spend on cloud each month, and when was it last reviewed?
2. Which servers or applications still run on aging on-site hardware?
3. How quickly could you recover if your main systems went down?

How it works
